

Christmas Tree Types

Fraser Fir

Dark green in color and pleasant fresh-cut aroma, the Fraser Fir has strong branches and soft needles that don't shed. The Fraser Fir is ideal for indoor wreaths.

Douglas Fir

Big trees with lots of branches. Soft needles with a blue green to dark green in color. This is a fragrant tree which has been a favorite in the past generations.

Spruce

Strong branches that are excellent for holding ornaments, with needles that protrude from all sides of the twigs.

White Pine

Beautiful long needles but has delicate branches that should be decorated with care.

Scotch Pine

Bushy, full tree with stiff needles. Sturdy tree but just a little bit pokey!

White Fir

Otherwise called oncolor, smells of citrus, and has a blue grey color. This tree has soft needles but is stiff and strong

Canaan Fir

Similar to Fraser, with dark bluish green needles with good needle retention. These trees also give of a great aroma.
